The Building Energy Rating (BER) is an indication of the energy performance of this dwelling. It covers energy use for space heating, water heating, ventilation and lighting, calculated on the basis of standard occupancy. It is expressed as primary energy use per unit floor area per year (kWh/m²/yr).

'A' rated properties are the most energy efficient and will tend to have the lowest energy bills.

FORM OF BUILDING ENERGY RATING (BER) FOR BUILDING OTHER THAN A DWELLING

NEAP Version X.Y.Z

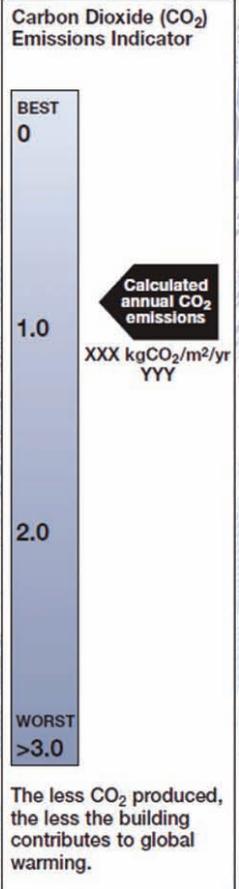

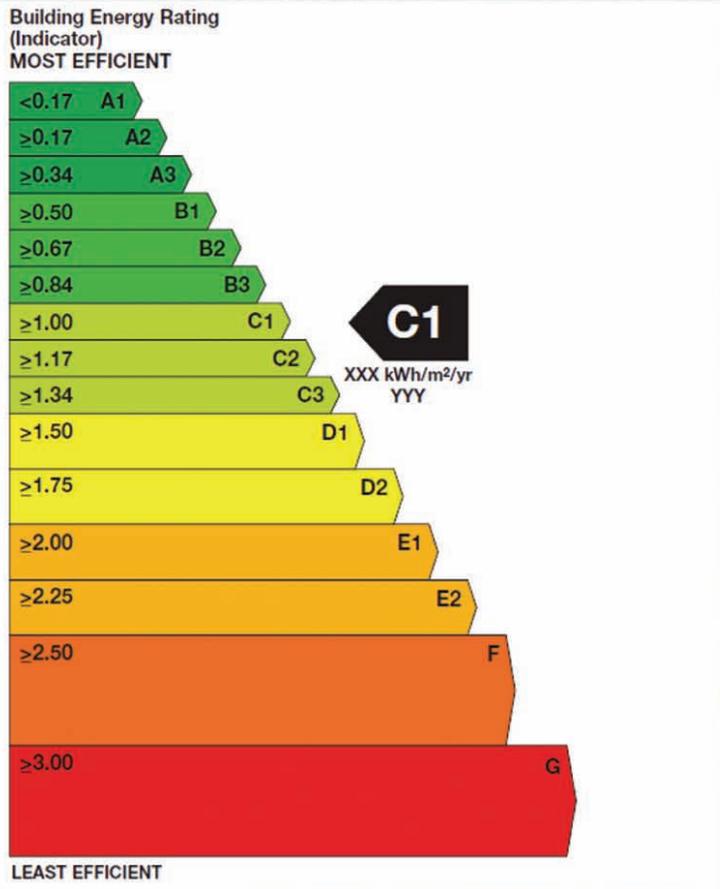

Building Energy Rating (BER)

BER for the building detailed below is: C1

The Building Energy Rating (BER) is an indicator of the energy performance of this building. It covers energy use for space heating and cooling, water heating, ventilation and lighting, calculated on the basis of standard operating patterns. It is accompanied by a CO₂ emissions indicator. These indicators are expressed as respective ratios of primary energy use and CO₂ emissions, relative to what would apply for a similar building generally satisfying the Building Regulations 2005. 'A' rated properties are the most energy efficient and will tend to have the lowest energy bills.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Instrument and does not purport to be a legal interpretation.)

These Regulations provide for the transposition and implementation of Articles 1, 2, 3, 4(2), 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14(4), 15(4), 17, 18, 27, 28 and 29 of Directive 2010/31/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 19 May 2010 on the energy performance of buildings (recast).

Part 2 of these Regulations requires a person who commissions the construction of a new building to examine the technical, environmental and economic feasibility of installing high efficiency alternative energy systems at design stage. This requirement will apply to new buildings for which planning permission is applied for on or after 9 January 2013.

Part 3 of these Regulations provides that a Building Energy Rating (BER) certificate be secured when:—

- a new building is offered for sale or for let on or after 9 January 2013;
- an existing building is offered for sale or for let on or after 9 January 2013.

Where a new building is offered for sale or for let from plans, the Regulations provide that a provisional BER certificate be secured which will be replaced by a final BER certificate on completion of construction. This Part also requires that a building's energy performance indicator be stated in advertisements relating to the sale or letting of the building.

In addition, on or after 9 January 2013, any building in excess of 500 m² which is frequently visited by the public is required to display either a BER certificate or a Display Energy Certificate (DEC) in a prominent place clearly visible to members of the public. On and from 9 July 2015, this requirement is extended to all buildings in excess of 250 m² which are frequently visited by the public when occupied by public bodies.

Part 4 of these Regulations provides that the Sustainable Energy Authority of Ireland shall be responsible, inter alia, for the administration of the BER system and sets out requirements in relation to the registration of BER assessors, the issue of BER certificates, quality assurance, the maintenance of records, databases and documents, fees and levies, the development of codes of practice for assessors and assessor training providers.

Part 5 of the Regulations provides for enforcement and sets out the powers of authorised officers and the penalties that may apply to any person guilty of an offence under these Regulations.

Part 6 of these Regulations provides that the Sustainable Energy Authority of Ireland may take such steps as are necessary to promote advice to the users of heating and air-conditioning systems in accordance with the alternative approach set out in Articles 14(4) and 15(4), and by extension Article 16, of the Directive.
